

11th International Anti-Corruption Conference: Workshop Panelist Form

Please return to workshop coordinator by [19] March, 2003

---

1. Your name: Corene Crossin	2. Workshop Title: Politicians Incorporated: Abroad 6.6
-------------------------------------	--

---

3. Title of case-study or paper: Privatised Access to Natural Resources

---

4. Please provide a one page abstract of your case-study or paper:

This paper outlines how influence peddlers are able to operate in the context of current non-transparent natural resource extraction business operations.

The paper focuses on prominent recent cases of influence peddling associated with multinational oil companies, and examines the following:

- Why influence peddling a particular problem in the oil and natural resource extraction sectors;
- 2 case studies: Angola and Kazakhstan
- Discussion of the key common features of influence peddling in the oil sector with reference to these case studies
- Brief critical review of the legal and other measures currently available to address natural resource-related influence peddling
- What is missing in terms of addressing the problem of influence peddling? How can the situation be improved?